

DENNSTAEDTIACEAE Bracken family

Pteridium aquilinum (L.) Kuhn Bracken

Harrock Hill DP Earl 2008

Status & distribution: Native, Least Concern (Red List for England); widespread and often locally dominant in the hill districts and on the former mosslands.

Habitat: Hillsides, cloughs, birch woods on the drained mosslands, woodlands on sandy soils, railway embankments, and an increasing colonist of brick walls.

Comments: Absent from the reclaimed coastal marshes and rare on the lowland clays and base rich soils about Clitheroe. There are surprising absences from some areas in the hill districts.
